Confidential Agreement Paves the Way for Companies to Resume Working Together

VANCOUVER, Wash. & NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jun. 16, 2022-- ZoomInfo Technologies LLC ("ZoomInfo") and Bombora, Inc. ("Bombora") today announced that they entered a confidential agreement settling a lawsuit pending in the Supreme Court of the State of New York, County of New York, under the caption ZoomInfo Technologies LLC v. Bombora, Inc., Index. No. 652431/2020. The case concerned a years-long revenue sharing agreement between the parties, which terminated in early 2020, and various privacy-related claims. Terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

"ZoomInfo has achieved its leadership status by anticipating market needs and innovating to meet them, including a deep commitment to privacy compliance," said Erik Matlick, Founder and CEO of Bombora. "Resolving this suit is a step forward not only for both of our companies, but also for our industry, one in which ethical stewardship of data, of which ZoomInfo is setting an example, is increasingly critical."

"Our commitment to and investment in privacy leadership is second to none," said Henry Schuck, Founder and CEO of ZoomInfo. "Bombora's intent data plays an important role in improving B2B sales and marketing, and we look forward to working together again."

While the agreement does not encompass resumption of the business partnership, the companies are in active discussions regarding Bombora's participation in ZoomInfo's RingLead DataExchange.
